

Tuesdays 7-8pm
Thursdays 8-9pm
Saturdays 5-6pm

Cox Channel 14

Brought to you by:

Institute for Labor Studies and Research

Additional Sponsors: UA of Plumbing & Pipefitting Local 51, National Education Association Rhode Island, RI Federation of Teachers & Health Professionals, RI Council 94 AFSCME, IBEW Local 99, RI Building and Construction Trades Council, SEIU State Council, Painters and Allied Trades District Council 11, and the Laborers' International Union of North America.

This project has been made possible in part by a grant from the ADDD Fund at the Rhode Island Foundation, a charitable community trust serving the people of RI.

WHAT IS LABORVISION?

HISTORY

The Institute for Labor Studies & Research has produced LaborVision continuously since 1986. It is the only television show dedicated exclusively to covering issues that concern Rhode Island's working families.

PROGRAM TOPICS

In addition to regularly covering a range of subjects, each month LaborVision chooses a current issue to explore in depth. Past and future topics include:

- Government Decisions and the Political Process
- The Healthcare Crisis
- Rhode Island's Tax System
- Immigration
- Public Education

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

University of Rhode Island Professor Scott Molloy joins LaborVision regularly to give historical context for the topic of the month.

LaborVision interviews people on the street, on the job, at conferences and meetings about the issues that matter to them.

Each month experts and community leaders come together for a panel to discuss a timely issue.

VOLUNTEER OPPORTUNITIES

LaborVision is always looking for volunteers to help interview, videotape, and promote the show. We are also interested in new ideas for future broadcasts.

Please contact us with questions or comments!

Phone: 401-463-9900

Email: info@rilaborinstitute.org

Web site: www.laborvision.org